

Price & Valuation Disclaimer

Effective Date: 11 July 2026

At Wizards Staff Antiques, we take great care in researching, assessing and pricing every item we offer for sale. This Price & Valuation Disclaimer explains how our prices are determined and the limitations of valuations within the antiques and collectables market.

1. Pricing of Items

The prices of our items are determined using a range of factors, including but not limited to:

- Age
- Rarity
- Condition
- Authenticity
- Provenance (where known)
- Historical significance
- Market demand
- Recent sales of comparable items
- Our experience and professional judgement

All prices are offered in good faith and reflect our assessment of an item's value at the time it is listed for sale.

2. Market Values

The value of antique, vintage and collectable items can change over time.

Values may increase or decrease due to factors such as:

- Changes in collector demand.
- Auction results.
- Economic conditions.
- Fashion and collecting trends.
- Availability of comparable items.

For this reason, we cannot guarantee that an item will retain, increase or achieve any particular value in the future.

3. Valuation Opinions

Where we express an opinion regarding the age, origin, maker, attribution or value of an item, this is based on our knowledge, experience, research and the information available to us at the time.

Such opinions are given honestly and in good faith but should not be regarded as guarantees or formal valuations unless expressly stated.

4. No Investment Guarantee

Items sold by Wizards Staff Antiques are offered primarily for their historical, decorative and collectable qualities.

We do not guarantee that any purchase will:

6. Previous Valuations

Any previous valuations, estimates or historical price information relating to an item are provided for reference only, where available.

They should not be interpreted as representing the item's current market value.
